Muslim social media site named best tech start-up In Europe

(From news agencies) London – Red Herring magazine has named a popular Muslim social networking site as the best technology start-up in Europe this year. Muxlim.com, founded by Finland-based entrepreneurs Mohamed El-Fatraty and Pietari Päivänen, now boasts 1 million unique visits every month. The site's user traffic makes it the Muslim equivalent of Yahoo!, Facebook and YouTube. El-Fatraty attributed the popularity of Muxlim.com to the safe and friendly environment of the site. He said the site does not expose people to vulgarity, offensive content, or adult material. "Our community has been very active in helping the moderation team ensure that uploaded content is appropriate for users of all ages," said El-Fatraty in a statement.
